

One South Dearborn

Chicago, Illinois

Civil engineering site design was provided for construction of a new 44 story office building in the heart of downtown Chicago. The site included a 13,490 square foot plaza that required an innovating approach to storm water drainage and grading. Regrading of the public alley to upgrade its drainage capability was also provided.

